Attorney General Josh Stein Announces Investigation into E-Cigarette Maker Juul

RALEIGH, NC (October 15, 2018) -- Attorney General Josh Stein today announced that he has launched an investigation into Juul, the e-cigarette company. He sent the company a civil investigative demand to ask for more information about Juul's marketing practices, retailers, contact with resellers, efforts to verify age before purchase, and any youth education and awareness programs. He also asks for information about the number of North Carolinians using Juul.

"The use of e-cigarettes among young people is increasing at staggering rates," said Attorney General Josh Stein. "Juul dominates the market. I am extremely concerned about the way Juul has marketed its product to young people, who face increased risk for addiction and exposure to health problems."

Juul controls about 70 percent of the market for e-cigarettes. According to the CDC, 2.1 million high schoolers and middle schoolers reported using e-cigarettes in 2017. By the fall of 2018, that number had grown to approximately 3.7 million minors using e-cigarettes. Health risks include nicotine addiction, nicotine poisoning, heart disease, lung disease, behavior changes, and more.

Patriots Rout Spartans by Dan O'Neal

MORGANTON, NC (October 12, 2018) -- It was Homecoming night at Freedom High and the home side was full of most Freedom fans decked out in their red, blue, and white, with the exception of one wearing his Duke hoodie (yes!!) and the young ladies and their escorts dressed to the nines to add elegance to the occasion. With that, a word of congratulations to Madison Dalton on being selected Homecoming Queen 2018. Having met she and her family after the game, this young lady was obviously very gracious and humble with this recognition.

For the South Caldwell gridiron performers, they would have loved nothing more than going to the west side of Morganton and crashing the Homecoming party with a win; perhaps to vindicate the surprise of falling to McDowell in the Homecoming game a week earlier after being heavily favored.

Certainly, it is a wonderful distinction when the local press thinks enough of your body of work to make such projections. With South entering this game with a 2-5 record and Freedom at 6-1, chances are that the local media are going to pick the team with the better record at this stage of the season.

Games, as we well know, are still won on the field. And that is exactly what the Patriots did in soundly defeating the Spartans by the count 58 to 14. Freedom scored on eight of their ten drives and gained 461 total yards on offense and held South to 130 yards of total offense from scrimmage.

Spencer Piercy had some bright moments in the game by gaining 84 yards on eight carries while platoon quarterbacks Jason Martin and Avery Raynor combined on six completed passes, one on a six-yard toss to Malachi Sumner. Sumner also sacked Patriots quarterback Jayden Birchfield for a ten-yard loss and Gray Felts also picked off one of Birchfield's passes.

"Freedom is a good team on both sides of the football. We have trouble with team speed and the gets us behind the eight ball in games like these. They especially made it difficult for our guys running the football" commented Spartans head coach Marc Kirkpatrick.

South will be on the road again this Friday night at Hickory High School. For South to qualify for post-season (yes, it is that time again), they will need to win their next three games and for McDowell to lose their next three. Game time is 7:30pm.

CAPC hosting a Vigil Under the Sails in Downtown Hickory

HICKORY, NC -- The Children's Advocacy and Protection Center will hold a Vigil on October 23rd at noon to remember the 24 children listed by the NC Child Fatality and Prevention Team as homicide victims by a parent or caregiver. The Vigil will be held at Sails on the Square in downtown Hickory.

The Vigil is held annually in October in remembrance of the children who died as a result of abuse and neglect in North Carolina during the prior calendar year. A bell rings as each child's name, age and cause of death is read aloud. Simultaneous with the ringing of the bell, a T-Shirt holding the child's name and age will be displayed for everyone to see. This year 25 T-shirts will be displayed. In addition to the 24 names, there will be one for the Unknown unreported death. The art work on each shirt is created by students in the Art Club at Hickory High under the guidance of Teresa Bentley, Art teacher. After the ceremony, a Linda Henson takes the shirts and creates a quilt. The CAPC will also reveal last year's quilt designed and created by Linda Henson and her husband, Dave. After the event, this quilt will be displayed somewhere in Catawba County as designated by Chris Johnson, the Children's Protection Award Winner for 2018.

Dr. Penni Huffman, DNP, APRN, NNP-BC will speak. Penni Huffman is a Doctorally prepared Neonatal Nurse Practitioner and the Director of Catawba Valley Medical Center's Neonatal Nurseries and Pediatrics. She is an Assistant Professor at the University of South Alabama where she coordinates the Neonatal Nurse Practitioner MSN and DNP programs. She is a current board member of the Children's Advocacy & Protection Center. Penni has over a decade of experience caring for infants exposed to opiates in utero and a passion for providing exceptional patient care to these children and their families.

Christy Clary will be singing a special song, and Pastor Lori Blocker with Corinth Reformed Church, Hickory will do the prayer.

The Vigil also serves as a reminder to each of us that we have a responsibility to protect children. Please join us as we remember the innocent children who suffered a senseless death in North Carolina during 2017. As a reminder – the location of the Vigil is at Sails on the Square, Tuesday, October 23 at noon and will last approximately 1 hour. For more information, contact the CAPC at 828-465-9296.

The CAPC is a non-profit organization that works to prevent and respond to child sexual abuse and serious physical abuse. It coordinates the efforts of Catawba County Social Services, law enforcement, and the District Attorney's office.

More information about the CAPC is available on its website at catawbacountycapc.org. You may call the center at 828-465-9296. For more information about the Vigil, email cengart@catawbacountync.gov.

Livingston Retires from Caldwell Hospice after Decades of Service

LENOIR, NC (October 5, 2018) -- "I believe in our mission. I believe in what we do here. It only takes one experience to be hooked," a retiring Martha Livingston, CSW, said as she reflected on her nearly 29 years with Caldwell Hospice and Palliative Care earlier this summer. "There comes a time that medicine can't 'fix it'...and people need comfort care and peace."

CEO Cathy Swanson says it is in those moments that Livingston, now former Director of Support Services, excelled. "If you want to see Martha at her best, witness her at the bedside of a dying patient."

She also excelled as a mentor—training, teaching and helping young social workers learn what it means to be patient-centered in the hospice philosophy.

"Martha holds a special place in my heart as she was the very one who helped mold me into a medical social worker," adds Kelly Mitchell, BSW. "Her words of wisdom and encouragement will ring in our ears long after her retirement."

Livingston began her work at Caldwell Hospice as a part-time medical social worker in 1989. When the Director of Support Services position was created in 1994, she moved into that leadership role. During her tenure, the organization experienced tremendous growth. Under her leadership, a full complement of enhanced supportive services was added including community bereavement care, cardiac and pulmonary care programs for patients with heart/lung disease and most recently a dementia care program.

Livingston has been an especially strong advocate for the dementia care program that seeks to help caregivers understand and better meet the unique needs of patients with memory loss and other dementia-related symptoms.

"I worked closely with Martha in our dementia care program, especially The Virtual Dementia Tour.® Her passion and commitment to even the smallest details continually 'raised the bar' in the quality of what we did," explains Lisa Caviness, BS, Public Relations and Marketing Specialist. "She genuinely cares about the people for whom we have the privilege to provide care, and it shows in everything she does."

Teaching support staff the "Caldwell Hospice way of doing things" was another specialty of Livingston's says Jenni Patterson, BSW, who remembers what it was like to be a new social worker just starting out.

"I appreciated Martha because I knew she was molding me and building me a solid foundation to understand and provide all of our patients with the same quality of care," adds Patterson. "I learned that her compassion and love for hospice is real, and that is something we share, and I only hope that I can carry on all that she has taught me."

While everyone at Caldwell Hospice wishes Livingston well on her new endeavors, they also know she is leaving them and the organization a strong legacy.

"The Board of Directors works closely with and gets to know the senior leadership team. The success of Caldwell Hospice is truly a team effort, and when you look at Martha Livingston's career you see that she's one of the columns holding up that success," says Marc Carpenter, chairperson of the Caldwell Hospice board of directors.

Never one comfortable in the spotlight, Livingston told those gathered at a retirement event in her honor she appreciates the accolades but could not have done it alone. "I have been successful here because I was surrounded by a great team. And, wow, what a great team!"
